Highest-rated Seminar!

A great instructor ... use-it-now materials ... a reputation that has taken years to build ... all add up to a course that is becoming recognized as the standard guide on computer graphics. The instructor places an excellent command of fundamental computer graphics knowledge within the grasp of Data Processing professionals, scientists, engineers, and managers. Years of meaningful experience has been converted into a systematic, well-organized learning program that enables participants to evaluate, select, and use computer graphics in the most effective manner.
